M82.344	5	Vessel		Clay Jug	Turkey	2800-2500 BC	Early Bronze Age	Clay.	Pottery/ Ceramics	Fired clay jug with a short cut-away neck and single handle from neck to lower shoulder, and a small flattened base. Deliberately fired unevenly, red at bottom and black near top. Burnished surface decorated with triple incised lines in "V" patterns and three pairs of raised nipples. From Yortan, west-central Turkey, Late Early Bronze Age 1-111a, early to mid 3rd millennium BC.	21.50	14.70		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.345	6	Vessel		Clay Collared Jug	Turkey	2800-2500 BC	Early Bronze Age	Clay.	Pottery/ Ceramics	Fired clay hand-formed collared necked jug with a flaring rim, four vertical strap handles on shoulder, and a small flattened base. Burnished and unevenly fired to achieve a two-toned surface, black at neck and shoulder and red below (as cat. 5). Triple incised "V" shaped decoration on body with four raised nipples high on shoulder. Yortan culture of west-central Turkey, Late Early Bronze Age I-IIIa, early to mid 3rd millennium BC.	18.00	15.20		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove

M82.232	8	Seal		Cylinder Seal	Assyria	1300-1200 BC	Bronze Age	Carnelian.	Gemstone carved	Carnelian seal stone in cylindrical shape with a drilled hole through a long carved ring at the top and carved in low relief with human headed winged sphinx shown galloping through stylized plants with star-shaped foliage. Perhaps from Northern Iraq, Middle Assyrian date ca. 1300-1200 BC. Attribution and date provided to Dr. Malcove by Edith Porada.	5.20	0.80		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.346	9	Bowl		Shallow painted bowl	Southeastern Italy	550-400 BC	Subgeometric Daunian II	Clay.	Pottery/ Ceramics	Fired clay hand-formed shallow "cornuto" bowl with a high looped handle with two upraised "horns", flaring rim and concave base. Covered with light beige slip and horizontal stripes in black (much worn) on the sides of the bowl and rim, with decoration on exterior base in form of triple-lined cross in centre of a circle bounded by series of double striped triangles (star type pattern). Probably from southeastern Italy, of subgeometric Daunian II date, ca. 550-400 BC.	14.10	14.60		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.347	10	Bowl		Shallow painted bowl	Southeastern Italy	550-400 BC	Subgeometric Daunian II	Clay.	Pottery/ Ceramics	Fired clay hand-formed shallow "cornuto" bowl with high looped handle with two upraised "horns", flaring rim and concave base. Covered with a light beige slip and decorated with brown-painted linear designs on handle and around outer rim, bowl, and base - interior undecorated. Probably from southeastern Italy, of subgeometric Daunian II date, ca. 550-400 BC, as cat. 9.	9.40	12.40		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.310	11	Head		Miniature head of Isis or a priestess of Isis	Egypt	100-1 BC		Hematite.	Sculpture	Carved haematite stone head of a woman identified as Isis or, more probably, a priestess of Isis. The hairstyle is familiar to Isis statues and the figure also wears a wreath or headband with diagonal incisions terminating in stylized leaves at the back. Large eyes and pronounced eyebrows, thick lips are upturned - perhaps more portrait-like than divinity? A priestess of Isis more likely? Possibly Egyptian, ca. 1st century BC BC.	6.50	3.80		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.357	12	Mirror		Mirror		50-199 AD	Roman	Gilt bronze and silver.	Metal relief	Gilt bronze circular mirror with relief scene of the Three Graces, nude and semi-clad in the centre of the back side. Based on Hellenistic models but produced in first two centuries AD. The figures are shown flanked by a two-handled vase and a one-handled fluted jugs on stands on each side. Roman AD 1st or 2nd C.	100.00	100.00		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove

M82.205	13	Bracelet		Painted glass bracelet		unknown	Roman	Glass, paint.	Glass	Opague dark green glass painted with white and silver decoration in form of diagonal lines and scroll motifs. Large size indicates it was intended to be worn on upper arm with the glass join to the inside of the arm. The worn decoration on this area supports this scenario. Roman work, date and provenance unknown.	9.30	9.30	0.50	Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.319	14	Relief, fragment		Relief of goddess flanked by Dioskuroi	Asia Minor	ca. 100-299 AD	Antonine/Severan	Marble.	Relief Sculpture	Fragment cut out of larger piece. Arched marble panel with scene carved in relief (concave) depicting of a standing female figure flanked by two horsemen. She is interpreted as a goddess and is draped in chiton and himation. The two flanking horsemen hold spears and wear military kilts and have flowing capes - thought to be the Dioskuroi, that is, Castor and Polydeuces (or Pollux), the twin sons of Leda and Zeus and the brothers of Helen of Troy. From Asia Minor and thought to be Antonine or Severan period - AD 2nd to 3rd C.	29.00	41.50	3.00	Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.152	15	Gravestone		Grave stele of Atilia	Turkey	150-175 AD	Roman	Marble.	Relief Sculpture	Marble grave stele carved in deep relief with a central concave panel containing a portrait bust of a young woman. Inscription below in Greek "Atilia, Farewell". She is clad in chiton and a cloak which covers the back of her head. She wears a kind of turban but hair revealed at front as being hair parted in middle and arranged in overlapping loops. The relief is published in Parlasca, K., Trier Wincklemannsprogramme 3, 1981, 10, pls. 11, 1; and that author suggests that the provenance of the relief is Seleukeia- on- the - Euphrates/Zeugma (modern Belkis, Turkey) in southeastern Turkey, where several slabs of the same type occur.	64.00	45.00	17.00	Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
M82.308	16	Bust		Bust of Zeus Ampelikos	Anatolia	210-225 AD	Roman	Marble.	Relief Sculpture	Marble sculpture of a bust length male figure with shoulder-length hair and curling beard. Back is unworked and flat. Identified by an inscription on the socle as being a bust of Zeus Ampelikos. He wears a chiton (shift) and himation (cloak) right hand resting in the fold of the himation draped around his chest. Belongs to a series of votive busts of Zeus from the Upper Tembris Valley (between Kutahya and Afyon in northwest Phrygia, Turkey). Made by itinerant stone cutters connected with the major workshop of the area working from the middle of the second century to first quarter of the fourth century. Artist identified on basis of other works signed by him and other votives and funerary stele known by his hand - Epitychanos.	29.50	17.00	5.00	Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove

M82.323	17	Gravestone		Gable of a funerary stele	Turkey	230-240 AD	Roman	Marble.	Relief Sculpture	Marble funerary stele fragment in low to deep sculpted relief. Three portraits busts: two larger ones of a male and female in central roundel with a smaller female bust portrait in roundel surmounting the larger figures of a man and a woman. Are the larger figures the deceased shown with their daughter? Ornament in low relief around the figures/roundels includes grape vines with fruit, a small bird, and implements used in weaving and personal use (comb, mirror). The gable belongs to a series of stelae executed by the stone cutters of a major workshop in the Tembris Valley of Turkey (Asia Minor) (cf. cat. # 16). This workshop produced "doorstones" as well as stelae with a niche containing full-sized standing figures of the deceased. Comparable works from the Late Severan Period by a carver known as Zelas, son of Teimeas and Alexandros - and some scholars speculate that Alexandros was the artist of our gable/stele.	42.00	47.00	7.00

M82.328	18	Gravestone		Gable of a funerary stele	Turkey	280-285 AD	Roman	Marble.	Relief Sculpture	White marble grave stele of truncated arch form. The central concave panel has a relief of two busts of a man and a woman and a full length figure of a male child in the middle. All figures are clad in a chiton and himation (cloak) and the child holds a bird in his left hand - a favorite pet for children in antiquity. Probably a husband and his deceased wife, and the youth one of their children mentioned in the inscription at the bottom and on the sides of the stele. Like cat. 16, 17, this is probably from the Upper Tembris Valley, Turkey ("Anatolia") and dated ca. 270-285, but more precisely 280-285 on basis of comparable works discussed in catalogue at length. The inscription takes the usual form of Phrygian inscriptions of the Roman Period. The mutilated nature of the stone makes it difficult to restore fully.	63.50	60.00	6.50

M82.286	20	Head		Female head with diadem	Syrian	ca. ? 100 300		Basalt.	Sculpture	Sculpted stone head of a female identified as a goddess on the basis of the diadem she wears and her elaborate hairdo, slightly under life size. Piece is "Parthian" and said to come from Sia near Seraida in the Djebel Druze (area of Bosra, Syria). Note on Parthia -Ruling from 247 B.C. to A.D. 228 in ancient Persia (Iran), the Parthians defeated Alexander the Great's successors, the Seleucids, conquered most of the Middle East and southwest Asia, controlled the Silk Road and built Parthia into an Eastern superpower. The Parthian empire revived the greatness of the Achaemenid empire and counterbalanced Rome's hegemony in the West. Parthia at one time occupied areas now in Iran, Iraq, Turkey, Armenia, Georgia, Azerbaidzhan, Turkmenistan, Afghanistan, Tajikistan, Pakistan, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Palestine and Israel.	30.00	10.00
M82.343	21	Bust		Bust of Sarapis		ca. 200- 299		Steatite.	Sculpture	Small stone bust of Jupiter-Sarapis, provenance unknown, although our records say "Roman period, Egypt, and "found near Alexandria". The date of the piece has been debated, some scholars seeing it as 4th century. Serapis was a composite of several Egyptian and Hellenistic deities, and his chief centre of worship in Ptolomeic times was the great Serapium in Alexandria. The identification of the sculpture as representing Sarapis (also spelled Serapis) is based on his typical iconography - influenced by late Hellenistic art, he typically wears a Greek style robe and has long locks and a bushy beard. He is also shown with a basket or tall corn measure surmounting his head, representing his fertility attributes and association with Osiris, sometimes god of grain.	12.00	9.00		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove

M82.385	22	Plaque		Plaque of Cybele		ca. 200-250	Roman	Bronze.	Metal relief	Bronze circular plaque with bust of Cybele wearing a crown and holding her usual attributes - the sistrum and cymbals - in her left hand. She is flanked by two lions at shoulder level. One lion stands on the head of a deer, the other on the head of a (?) bull. A snake is placed in the small area left under the bust of Cybele. Roman work of ca. the early 3rd century. The cult of Cybele - an ancient earth goddess, mistress of animals, etc., - was introduced into Italy from Phrygia in the second century BC, but was most popular during the Severan emperors, esp. Septimius Severus (192-214) and his Syrian wife Julia Domna. There is some speculation that the features of Julia Domna are incorporated into some Cybele statues, and that she was associated with the goddess, just as emperors were associated with gods and heros.	8.20	8.20
M82.190	23	Diadem		Repousee diadem	Thrace	250-275		Silver.	metal work	Silver/tin (?), or foil diadem decorated with repousee design of a figure on horseback wearing a helmet and short chiton. Catalogue entry suggests the rider is female - an Amazon or Athena? - , horse gallops to the right. Standing female figures to either side of the rider, one on left holds spear or staff and wears long chiton folded around hips, also tentatively identified as Athena, other figure on right may be female but much damaged - possibly ? Aphrodite. On either side of these standing figures is a head or mask.	6.00	15.00		Gift of Dr. Lillian Malcove
